1. INTRODUCTION

The Hong Kong Trustees' Association ("HKTA") issued Best Practice Guides ("the Guides") covering corporate trusts, pension scheme, private trusts and charitable trusts in November 2012. The Guides set out the best practices which aim to educate and raise industry standards of members in relation to their trustee activities. The Guides consist of 3 parts, namely Guiding Principles, Guidance Notes and Practice Guidelines. Practice Guidelines, which are for reference only, will be more detailed than the Guidance Notes and cover more practical issues may be issued from time to time. This Guideline for Client Due Diligence Procedures serves as a Practice Guideline to provide members with ideas on how the Guiding Principles and Guidance Note may be met by Private Client Trustees.

This Guideline is for reference only and, as such, should not be treated in any way as a definitive guide to the relevant practice area. It is also not intended to be the only way to address any particular area of practice. In particular, as there are different ways to meet the Guiding Principles and Guidance Notes as well as the requirements of the relevant laws and regulations, to the extent that the practices stated in the Guideline differ from the existing practices of trustees, especially those which are subsidiaries of regulated financial institutions with stipulated or established AML frameworks. The Guideline is not intended to compel, suggest or advise changes to those existing practices.

Also, in the event of any conflict between the Guideline and any laws, regulations, codes or guidelines (including codes of conduct) (collectively "Other Codes") issued by a regulatory or professional statutory body to which a trustee may be subject, the Other Codes will take precedence.

LICENSING OF TRUST AND COMPANY SERVICE PROVIDERS

Under the requirements of the Anti-Money Laundering ("AML") and Counter-Terrorist Financing Ordinance ("CTF") (previously "Anti-Money Laundering and Counter-Terrorist Financing (Financial Institutions) Ordinance") ("AMLO") which became effective on 1 March 2018, a trustee who, by way of business, provides a trust or company service in Hong Kong will be regarded as a trust or company service provider (i.e. a TCSP), and therefore must obtain a licence from the Companies Registrar to carry out such service. Otherwise, the trustee commits an offence and would be liable on conviction to a fine of HK$100,000 and imprisonment for six months.

The licensing requirement does not apply to the Government, an authorised institution, an SFC-licensed corporation that operates a trust or company service business that is ancillary to the corporation's principal business, an accounting professional, a legal professional, or other persons prescribed by the Secretary for Financial Services and the Treasury. Therefore, a corporate trustee which is not an SFC-licensed corporation and which by way of business acts as the trustee of a unit trust in Hong Kong would be required to apply for and maintain a licence with the Registrar.

A licence may be granted to an individual carrying on business as a sole proprietor, a partnership or a corporation. In relation to a corporation, a licence is granted subject to the fit-and-proper test in respect of each director and the ultimate owner, as described below. Once a corporation is licensed, a person must not become a director or an ultimate owner without the Registrar's prior approval.

An ultimate owner in relation to a corporation, means any individual who (i) owns or controls more than 25% of the issued share capital of the corporation, (ii) is entitled to exercise control of more than 25% of the voting rights at general meetings of the corporation, or (iii) exercises ultimate control over the management of the corporation.

The licence is generally valid for three years and renewed thereafter for 3 year periods. The application fee for the grant of a licence is currently HK$3,440, plus HK$975 for each person who is subject to the fit-and-proper test. Notification on changes in particulars previously submitted to the Registrar in connection with the licensee's application must be given within one month of such changes.

COMPLYING WITH AML/CTF REQUIREMENTS

TCSP licensees are required to comply with AML/CTF Requirements set out in Parts 2, 3 and 4 of Schedule 2 to the AMLO. This means that they will need to conduct Client Due Diligence ("CDD") to identify their customers, and keep records of the identification data, and account and business correspondence for a minimum of at least five years (originally six years under the previous AMLO). Where appropriate, simplified CDD may be carried out in place of full CDD.

A TCSP licensee is required to carry out CDD when a transaction with a pre-existing customer (i.e. a customer with whom the TCSP has established a business relationship before 1 March 2018) is unusual or suspicious, or is not consistent with customer's business or risk profile known to the TCSP licensee, or there is a material change in the way the customer's account is operated. Otherwise the TCSP licensee should terminate the business relationship with the customer as soon as reasonably practicable.

If a TCSP licensee fails to comply with the AML/CTF Requirements or a condition of the licence, the Registrar may exercise the power to publicly reprimand the TCSP licensee, order the TCSP licensee to take specified action, and impose a pecuniary penalty not exceeding HK$500,000.

CLIENT DUE DILIGENCE

Trustees should determine the extent of CDD measures and ongoing monitoring required, using a risk-based approach ("RBA") depending upon the background of their clients (each a "Client" and, collectively, "Clients") and the product, transaction or service used by that Client, so that preventive or mitigating measures are commensurate to the risks identified.

In June 2019, the Financial Action Task Force ("FATF") has issued a "Guidance for a Risk-Based Approach for Trust and Company Services Providers" which will be taken as reference for the purpose of this Guideline and can be downloaded from the following FATF website:-

(<http://www.fatf-gafi.org/publications/fatfrecommendations/documents/rba-trust-company-service-providers.html>)

A RBA will enable Trustees to subject their Clients to proportionate controls and oversight by determining the following:-

- (a) the extent of the CDD to be performed on the direct Client; and the extent of the measures to be undertaken to verify the identity of any beneficial owner and any person giving instructions or otherwise purporting to act on behalf of the Client;
- (b) the level of ongoing monitoring to be applied to the relationship; and
- (c) measures to mitigate any risks identified.

For example, the RBA may require extensive CDD for high risk Clients, such as an individual (or corporate entity) whose source of wealth and funds is unclear or who requires the setting up of complex structures whose purpose is not immediately evident.

An effective RBA involves identifying and categorizing money-laundering risks at the Client level and establishing reasonable measures based on the risks which have been identified. An effective RBA will allow Trustees to exercise reasonable business judgment with respect to their Clients.

1.1 This guideline shall be applicable for Trustees who are setting up private trust / structures, or private unit trusts, employer sponsored shares schemes for employees, employer sponsored pension plan, escrow / cash transaction arrangements, or acting as personal representative. For the purpose of this guideline, “Client” would mean the individual settlor of a private trust, or a corporate entity which is setting up an employee scheme, or any equivalent person or entity in any structure.

1.2 The CCD procedure should consist of the following:

- (a) Identification and collection of all relevant information of the Client;
- (b) Risk Assessment allocation and the appropriate review frequency of the relationship;
- (c) Identification of source of funds and corroboration with source of wealth;
- (d) Screening against the necessary lists and databases;
- (e) Self-certification from the Client in compliance with FATCA and CRS (see Appendix IX) reporting; and
- (f) Retention of verified client documentation on file.

1.3 These CDD procedures must be completed in full in the following circumstances:-

1.3.1 On account set up of a new relationship

- (a) when establishing a trust (“Trust”) or a structure; or
- (b) On taking in a Will appointment client

The CDD information must be reviewed:-

1.3.2 At a minimum on an annual basis

1.3.3 On such frequency as determined by the risk assessment criteria

1.3.4 On the following trigger events

- (a) injection of additional assets into a Trust or a structure; or
- (b) prior to any distribution of trust funds to a beneficiary of such Trust if deemed appropriate to do so by the Trustee, on a RBA; or
- (c) prior to any activity undertaken in any structure involving a PEP; or
- (d) death of the testator, and on grant of probate; or
- (e) before performing any occasional transaction equal to, or exceeding, an aggregate value of the lower of the aggregate value of 10% of the total assets of the trust or HK$500,000 (whichever is the lower); and in the case of a listed company, 3% of the total issued shareholding; (whether carried out in a single operation or several operations) that appear to the Trustee to be linked; or
- (f) change in the Client's / structure's transaction profile; or
- (g) when the Trustee suspects that the Client or the Client's account is involved in any suspicious transactions such as money laundering or terrorist financing; or
- (h) when the Trustee doubts the veracity or adequacy of any information previously obtained for the purpose of identifying the Client or for the purpose of verifying the Client's identity, or
- (i) on the restructuring of the structure; or
- (j) on personal changes of the Client, e.g. marriage, divorce, change of residence to another country; or
- (k) reactivation of a dormant account.

2. RISK ASSESSMENT

The Risk Assessment Form (substantially in the format set out in Appendix II hereto) has to be completed for the Client and based on the reasons set out therein, the Client shall be assessed as low / medium / high risk. This assessment should be used to determine the frequency of the reviews that should be conducted for the relationship.

A PEP should be a high risk client.

A Medium to High risk Client should trigger the need for enhanced CDD procedures in the form of senior sign off, more information on the role of the client, assessment of the business case, potential activities and purposes of the structure. See also Appendix IV.

APPENDIX I

EXPLANATORY NOTES FOR COMPLETION OF CDD FORM

1. Is the Client acting through an agent?

Where a Client is acting through an agent, we will need to identify both the agent and its principal(s). A separate Client Due Diligence Form should be completed for each.

Examples of agents:- insurance company, law firm, accountant, professional services provider.

Where it is expected to receive payments from a third party on behalf of the Client, one must have a reasonable understanding of the source of the third party's funds and why they are involved.

2. Beneficial owner

Reasonable measures must be taken to identify the persons who have effective control or beneficial ownership of a Trust / structure. A risk-based approach should be adopted. Distinctions need to be made between individual clients and corporate clients.

For individuals we need to identify all beneficial owners who are natural person or persons who have the effective control or influence over the structure. This would include the one or more of the following:

- (i) the settlor of the Trust;
- (ii) the testator under a Will appointment;
- (iii) the protector or enforcer of the Trust;
- (iv) the person to whom powers in the trust deed has / have been reserved;
- (v) any individual who has ultimate control over the Trust;
- (vi) in the case of a trust the trustee of which is a private trust company, the shareholders and directors of the private trust company;
- (vii) in the case of a VISTA trust, the directors of the VISTA company;
- (viii) any persons named as beneficiaries or discretionary beneficiaries of the Trust, or under a Will; and
- (ix) an individual who is entitled to a vested interest in not less than 10% of the capital of the Trust assets, whether the interest is in possession or in remainder or reversion and whether or not it is defeasible.

And where corporate entities are concerned, either as Client or as asset being brought in to be part of the trust structure, it is therefore necessary to look up through the corporate chain to the top parent company to see which individuals are the beneficial owners. It is recognised this is an onerous requirement and so it has been limited, to only those owning more than 10%.

Therefore, a company which is owned equally by 11 other companies has no relevant beneficial owners since all own less than 10%. However, if it is understood that, in effect, the Client was a vehicle for a high net worth individual, we may be required to then investigate the corporate structure. If that investigation showed each of those companies are owned by one individual, it would then be the relevant beneficial owner. The fact that the beneficial ownership was potentially disguised in this way may be a ground for suspicion and would affect our risk assessment of the Client.

In high-risk circumstances, we need to identify all beneficial owners who own more than 10% of the voting rights or share capital.

High-risk circumstances include the following:-

1. Clients or beneficial owners with connections with high risk countries (e.g. incorporation place, business place, nationality, permanent address and residential address)
2. Clients with unduly complex ownership structure
3. Clients with a significant portion of capital in the form of bearer shares
4. Clients whose overseas corporate information is not readily accessible
5. Clients with nominee shareholders/directors without a clear and legitimate commercial purpose or reasonable justification
6. Clients or beneficial owners who are PEPs and persons, companies and government organizations related to them
7. Clients who conduct cash intensive business (e.g. money services business, casino)
8. Clients who/ which engage in high risk businesses (e.g. military related business, energy / resource business)
9. Clients with business activities generating the funds/ assets which have connections with high risk countries / high risk businesses
10. Non face-to-face account opening
11. Services that inherently have provided more anonymity
12. the Client's source of wealth and funds is unclear
13. Clients are persons or entities from or in non-cooperative countries and territories ("NCCT") identified by the Financial Action Task Force ("FATF") or such other jurisdictions (e.g. Iran) known to have insufficiently complied with FATF Recommendations.

The current list of NCCTs can be found on the FATF website at www.fatf-gafi.org. Currently FATF has not identified any NCCT.

The FATF was established in 1989 in an effort to thwart attempts by criminals to launder the proceeds of crime through the financial system. Hong Kong has been a full member of FATF since March 1991 and has the obligation to implement the FATF Recommendations.

14. the Client is otherwise considered as "high-risk" per the results of the Risk Assessment Form and the Clients' risk assessment score

In any case it is not necessary to identify all the companies in the chain; instead the focus is upon the natural person, who is the beneficial owner.

In addition, a corporate vehicle is controlled by an individual even though they do not appear as the legal or beneficial owner, they will need to be identified as the beneficial owner. We need to indicate in the CDD Form if there is reason to believe that control is vested in someone other than the directors or shareholders of a corporate vehicle.

3. Identification Documentation

Evidence of identity must be obtained. In the case of an existing client, particularly if there is reason to doubt the veracity or adequacy of information or documents previously obtained, or to suspect money laundering, or if beneficial owners may have changed, up to date evidence of identity must be obtained.

4. Person Giving Instructions

It needs to be ensured that in an individual Client, that they have the basis to do so.

For corporate Clients reasonable measures must be taken to identify the person purporting to give instructions on behalf of the Client and one should verify that such person is duly authorised e.g. obtaining a copy of the company's board resolution or power of attorney which evidence the conferring of authority on the person concerned. Other methods of verification are indicated herein.

5. Specified Intermediaries

A specified intermediary is—

- (a) any of the following persons who is able to satisfy the Trustee that they have adequate procedures in place to prevent money laundering and terrorist financing—
 - (i) a solicitor practising in Hong Kong;
 - (ii) a certified public accountant practising in Hong Kong;
 - (iii) a current member of The Hong Kong Institute of Chartered Secretaries practicing in Hong Kong;
 - (iv) a trust company registered under Part 8 of the Trustee Ordinance (Cap 29, Laws of Hong Kong) carrying on trust business in Hong Kong;
- (b) a financial institution that is an authorized institution, a licensed corporation, an authorized insurer, an appointed insurance agent or an authorized insurance broker; or
- (c) a lawyer, a notary public, an auditor, a professional accountant, a trust or company service provider or a tax advisor practising in an equivalent jurisdiction, or a trust company carrying on trust business in an equivalent jurisdiction, or an institution that carries on in an equivalent jurisdiction a business similar to that carried on by a financial institution mentioned in paragraph (b), that—
 - (i) is required under the law of that jurisdiction to be registered or licensed or is regulated under the law of that jurisdiction;
 - (ii) has measures in place to ensure compliance with requirements similar to those imposed under Schedule 2 to the AMLO; and
 - (iii) is supervised for compliance with those requirements by an authority in that jurisdiction that performs functions similar to those of any of the relevant authorities.

6. Due diligence / Source of wealth / Source of incoming funds

It is not needed for the source of wealth/source of funds to be verified to complete the CDD Form. One should make enquiries as to the source of funds for the transaction and consider whether the explanation is plausible.

For individuals, the risk is that funds acquired from questionable activities are then being invested in legitimate investments e.g. property. Understanding the source of funds and level of a person's net worth will assist in understanding the type and level of future investments expected. These are also considerations which must be made to comply with our duties to report suspicious transactions to the Joint Financial Intelligence Unit (“JFIU”) pursuant to Drug Trafficking (Recovery of Proceeds) Ordinance, Organised and Serious Crimes Ordinance and United Nation (Anti-Terrorism) Ordinance. For further guidance, please refer to Appendix VIII – Guidelines for Suspicious Transactions.

7. Enhanced Due Diligence

Enhanced due diligence is required:-

- 7.1 when handling complex, unusually large transactions, or an unusual patterns of transactions, which have no apparent economic or lawful purpose; or
- 7.2 when acting for Clients considered as “high risk” (see Note 2 above)
- 7.3 when a preliminary meeting leads to:-
 - suspicion of money laundering; or
 - doubt about the veracity or adequacy of previously obtained Client identification data.
- 7.4 where there has been no face to face meetings with the Client.

8. Politically exposed persons

There are additional risks posed by PEPs due to the risk of corruption and misappropriation of state assets.

PEPs are individuals entrusted with prominent public functions, such as heads of state or of government, senior politicians, senior government, judicial or military officials, senior executives of public organisations and senior political party officials. The concern is that they may abuse their public powers for their own illicit enrichment through the receipt of bribes particularly in countries where corruption is widespread.

If a PEP is involved, this should be taken into account in the risk assessment. Where a 51% shareholder or 51% beneficial owner is a PEP, the Client is likely to be higher risk.

9. Distribution of Funds

In relation to a distribution of funds to a Beneficiary, the CDD measures shall be carried out before any distribution of fund is made or transferred. If any of the below circumstances occur, the business relationship with the Client must be terminated as soon as reasonably practicable, unless a proper explanation could be provided and accepted:-

- (a) a transaction takes place with regard to the Client that:-
 - (i) is, by virtue of the amount or nature of the transaction, unusual or suspicious; or
 - (ii) is not consistent with the information or knowledge previously provided by the Client of the Beneficiary or the Client’s personal, business or risk profile, or with its knowledge of the source of the Client’s funds; or
- (b) a material change occurs in the way in which the Client’s account is operated.

Before carrying out any distribution of funds to a Beneficiary, the following must be recorded and kept:-

- (a) the Beneficiary’s name;
- (b) the number of the recipient’s account maintained and to which the money for the distribution is made, in the absence of such an account, a unique reference number assigned to the distribution;
- (c) the Beneficiary’s address or, in the absence of an address; if the Beneficiary is an

- individual, the Beneficiary's date and place of birth; and for a corporate client, the Beneficiary's official identification number;
- (d) the original or a copy of the documents or transaction, together with a record of the data and information, obtained in the course of identifying and verifying the identity of the Beneficiary or any beneficial owner of the Client; and
 - (e) the original or a copy of the files relating to the Client's account and business correspondence with the Client and any beneficial owner of the Client.

10. Dormant Account

- 10.1 An account which has not experienced any payments of funds into, or withdrawals of funds out of, it for a period of 12 months, except payment of fees out of the account for on-going maintenance or administration of the Trust / structure.
- 10.2 An unfunded Trust / structure for 12 months.

APPENDIX II

RISK ASSESSMENT FORM

Factors for Risk Assessment

When determining the risk profile of a Client, the following factors should be taken into account:-

1. background and origin of the Client;
2. nature of the Client's business;
3. for corporate Clients, the structure of ultimate beneficial ownership and control;
4. purpose, amount or frequency of any transaction to be undertaken;

APPENDIX V

RISK-BASED APPROACH (“RBA”)²

The information set out below in Appendices V, VI and VII are for your reference only and has been extracted from sources including the Financial Action Task Force Recommendations, the Hong Kong Institute of Chartered Secretaries Guidance Note, the Hong Kong Monetary Authority Guideline on Anti-Money Laundering (“AML”) and Counter-Terrorist Financing (“CTF”), the Hong Kong Trustees’ Association Best Practice Guide for Trustees of Corporate Trusts (August 2012), the Joint Financial Intelligence Unit AML and CTF Guidelines, and the Securities and Futures Commission Guideline on AML and CTF. Policies and procedures should be in place for compliance with the principles set out in the applicable laws and regulations.

1. The risk-based approach RBA to CDD and ongoing monitoring is recognized as an effective way to combat money laundering and/or terrorist financing (“ML/TF”). The general principle of an RBA is that where Clients are assessed to be of higher ML/TF risks, FIs should take enhanced measures to manage and mitigate those risks, and that correspondingly where the risks are lower, simplified measures may be applied. The use of an RBA has the advantage of allowing resources to be allocated in the most efficient way directed in accordance with priorities so that the greatest risks receive the highest attention.
2. The extent of CDD measures and ongoing monitoring using an RBA shall depend upon the background of the Client and the product, transaction or service used by that Client, so that preventive or mitigating measures are commensurate to the risks identified. The extent of CDD and ongoing monitoring shall be appropriate in view of the Client’s ML/TF risks. An effective RBA involves identifying and categorizing ML/TF risks at the Client level and establishing reasonable measures based on risks identified.

The RBA will help to subject Clients to proportionate controls and oversight by determining:-

 - (a) The extent of the due diligence to be performed on the direct Client; the extent of the measures to be undertaken to verify the identity of any beneficial owner and any person purporting to act on behalf of the Clients;
 - (b) The level of ongoing monitoring to be applied to the relationship; and
 - (c) Measures to mitigate any risks identified.
3. The ML/TF risks of individual Clients may be assessed by assigning a ML/TF risk rating to Clients and relevant factors shall be considered including:-
 - (a) Country risk;
 - (b) Client risk;
 - (c) Product/ service risk; and
 - (d) Delivery/ distribution channel risk.
4. Records and relevant documents of the risk assessment shall be kept so that it can demonstrate to the RAs, among others:-
 - (a) How it assesses the Client’s ML/TF risk; and
 - (b) The extent of CDD and ongoing monitoring is appropriate based on that Client’s ML/TF risk.

² For further details, please refer to the chapters 3 of the Hong Kong Monetary Authority Guideline on Anti-Money Laundering and Counter-Terrorist Financing.

5. A Risk Assessment Form (substantially in the form set out in Appendix II above) must be completed and assessed in respect of each Client.

APPENDIX VIANTI-MONEY LAUNDERING / COUNTER-TERRORIST FINANCING
CLIENT IDENTIFICATION CHECKLIST

1. Face-to-face interview should be performed whenever possible in order to better understand the Client, his or her affairs and business.
2. Originals of the supporting documents should always be requested in the first instance. Such documents should be inspected, photocopied and returned to the Client.
3. Where originals are not available, photocopies of the supporting documents may be accepted provided they are certified as a true copy of the original document by a Chartered Secretary, a lawyer or an accountant with membership in The Hong Kong Institute of Chartered Secretaries, The Law Society of Hong Kong or the Hong Kong Institute of Certified Public Accountants or a notary public, an embassy, consulate or high commission of the country of issue of the identity document.
4. For multi-layer ownership structures, information and supporting documents should be obtained for the first layer. An organisation chart showing the individuals who are the ultimate principal beneficial owners holding at least 10% interest should also be obtained. The identity of these individuals should be verified (as to those holding an interest of not less than 10% in a high-risk situation, and as to those holding an interest of not less than 25% in a non-high risk situation).
5. In circumstances where an existing Client is reclassified as high-risk, delaying taking reasonable measures shall be considered to verify the beneficial owner's identity according to the enhanced threshold (i.e. remediate from 25% to 10%) where a risk of tipping-off exists. All high-risk Clients (excluding Dormant Accounts) should be subject to a minimum of an annual review, and more frequently (if deemed necessary), of their profiles to ensure the CDD information retained remains up-to-date and relevant.
6. For companies: the directors and each beneficial owner must be identified and with their identities verified as described in Note 4 above. Where there are a large number of directors and shareholders, only the principal directors and controlling shareholders need be identified and verified.
7. For a reference letter, the preference is to obtain a reference letter from an international banker. If that is not possible, a professional reference letter from a Chartered Secretary, a notary public, a lawyer or an accountant with membership in The Hong Kong Institute of Chartered Secretaries, The Law Society of Hong Kong or the Hong Kong Institute of Certified Public Accountants is acceptable.
8. Try to obtain all documents on the checklist. Any exception to the checklist should be approved by an officer of suitable seniority such as a director or the legal or compliance officer.
9. If a person purports to act on behalf of the Client, the following must be conducted:-
 - (i) verify the person's authority to act on behalf of the Client and
 - (ii) identify the person and take reasonable measures to verify the person's identity on the basis of documents, data or information provided by:-

- (a) a governmental body;
 - (b) the relevant authority or any other relevant authority;
 - (c) an authority in a place outside Hong Kong that performs functions similar to those of the relevant authority or any other relevant authority; or
 - (d) any other reliable and independent source that is recognised by the relevant authority.
10. The general requirement is to obtain the same identification information as the Client and not to open, or maintain, any anonymous account or account in a fictitious name for any Client. As a general rule, the identity of those authorized to give instructions for the movement of funds or assets shall be identified and verified. On occasions difficulties may be encountered in identifying and verifying signatories of Clients that may have long lists of account signatories, particularly if such Clients are based outside Hong Kong. In such cases, a risk-based approach may be adopted in determining the appropriate measures to comply with these requirements (e.g. in respect of verification of account signatories related to a Client, such as a financial institution or a listed company), a more streamlined approach could be adopted. The provision of a signatory list, recording the names of the account signatories, whose identities and authority to act have been confirmed by a department or person within that Client which is independent to the persons whose identities are being verified (e.g. compliance, audit or human resources), may be sufficient to demonstrate compliance with these requirements.
11. Records must be kept throughout the continuance of the business relationship with the Client and for a period of 6 years beginning on the date on which the business relationship ends.
12. Reference is made to the Anti-Money Laundering and Counter-Terrorist Financing (Financial Institutions) (Amendment) Bill 2017 which was gazette on 23 June 2017, The Bill seeks to apply statutory customer due diligence and record-keeping requirements to designated non-financial businesses and professions when they engage in specified transactions. APPENDIX VII

EXAMPLES OF RELIABLE AND INDEPENDENT SOURCES FOR CLIENT IDENTIFICATION PURPOSES

1. The identity of an individual physically present in Hong Kong should be verified by reference to their Hong Kong identify card or travel document. A Hong Kong resident's identity should always be identified and/or verified by reference to his/her Hong Kong identity card, certificate of identity or document of identity. The identity of a non-resident should be verified by reference to their valid travel document.
2. For non-resident individuals who are not physically present in Hong Kong, whose identity may be identified and/or verified by reference to the following documents:-
 - (a) a valid international passport or other travel document; or
 - (b) a current national (i.e. Government or State-issued) identity card bearing the photograph of the individual; or
 - (c) current valid national (i.e. Government or State-issued) driving license³ incorporating photographic evidence of the identity of the applicant, issued by a competent national or state authority.
3. "Travel document" means a passport or some other document furnished with a photograph of the holder establishing the identity and nationality, domicile or place of permanent residence of the holder. The following documents constitute travel documents for the purpose of identity verification:-
 - (a) Permanent Resident Identity Card of Macau Special Administrative Region;
 - (b) Mainland Travel Permit for Taiwan Residents;
 - (c) Seaman's Identity Document (issued under and in accordance with the International Labour Organisation Convention/Seafarers Identity Document Convention 1958);
 - (d) Taiwan Travel Permit for Mainland Residents;
 - (e) Permit for residents of Macau issued by Director of Immigration;
 - (f) Exit-entry Permit for Travelling to and from Hong Kong and Macau for Official Purposes; and
 - (g) Exit-entry Permit for Travelling to and from Hong Kong and Macau.
4. For minors born in Hong Kong who are not in possession of a valid travel document or Hong Kong identity card⁴, their identity should be verified by reference to the minor's Hong Kong birth certificate. Whenever establishing relations with a minor, the identity of the minor's parent or guardian representing or accompanying the minor should also be recorded and verified in accordance with the above requirements.
5. A corporate Client may be identified and/or verified by performing a company registry search in the place of incorporation and obtaining a full company search report, which confirms the current reference to a full company particulars search (or overseas equivalent).

3 The identity of an individual physically present in Hong Kong should be verified by reference to their Hong Kong identify card or travel document. FIs should always identify and/or verify a Hong Kong resident's identity by reference to their Hong Kong identity card, certificate of identity or document of identity. The identity of a non-resident should be verified by reference to their valid travel document.

4 For jurisdictions that do not have national ID cards and where clients do not have a travel document or driving licence with a photograph, FIs may, exceptionally and applying a risk-based approach, accept other documents as evidence of identity. Wherever possible such documents should have a photograph of the individual.

6. For jurisdictions that do not have national ID cards and where Clients do not have a travel document or driving licence with a photograph, may, exceptionally and applying a risk-based approach, accept other documents as evidence of identity. Wherever possible such documents should have a photograph of the individual. For further details on a risk-based approach, please refer to Appendix V – Risk-based Approach (“RBA”) – and Appendix II – Risk Assessment Form.

APPENDIX VIII
GUIDELINES FOR SUSPICIOUS TRANSACTIONS

1. Follow JFIU's recommended 'SAFE' approach to identify suspicious transactions:
 - 1.1 Screen the Client and account for suspicious indicators: recognition of a suspicious activity indicator or indicators;
 - 1.2 Ask the Client appropriate questions to clarify suspicious circumstances;
 - 1.3 Find out from the Client's records: review information already known when deciding if the apparently suspicious activity is to be expected; and
 - 1.4 Evaluate all the above information and decide whether the transaction relating to the Client is genuinely suspicious.
2. The obligation to report is on the individual who becomes suspicious of a transaction. If a designated person, such as a compliance officer, has been appointed to co-ordinate the reporting of suspicious transactions, once an employee has made a report to that person in accordance with the relevant internal procedures, the employee's obligation to report is considered to have been fulfilled. It is then up to the designated person to decide if a report should be made to JFIU.
3. Suspicion in its ordinary meaning means a state of conjecture or surmise where proof is lacking: 'I suspect but I cannot prove.'
4. Keep a register to record all reports made to JFIU (with date on which the report is made, the person who makes the report and the reasons for making the report).
5. After filing the report, do not carry out or continue the transactions unless authorised by JFIU.
6. Do not disclose to the person the subject of the report or to any party which may prejudice the investigation that a report has been made to JFIU.
7. For further details, please refer to Part III: Reporting Suspicious Transactions/Terrorist Property of the Anti-Money Laundering and Counter-Terrorist Financing Guidelines 7 or JFIU (at <http://www.jfiu.gov.hk/en/str.html> and <http://www.jfiu.gov.hk/en/faq.html> or Tel: (+852) 2866-3366).
8. Below are some of the common red-flag indicators as suggested by JFIU for reference:-
 - 8.1 Unusual large cash transactions made by an individual or company whose ostensible business activities would normally be conducted through cheques and other financial instruments.
 - 8.2 Substantial increases in transactions of an individual or business without apparent cause, especially if such transactions involve transfers within a short period out of the account and/or to a destination not normally associated with the Client.
 - 8.3 Clients who exchange or remit cash by means of numerous smaller transactions so that each transaction is unremarkable, but the total of all the transactions will exceed the threshold.

- 8.4 Clients who seek to exchange large quantities of low denomination notes for those of higher denominations.
- 8.5 Reluctant to provide normal information when conducting transactions, or just provides minimal or apparently fictitious information.
- 8.6 A number of Clients transferring funds to the same beneficiary without an adequate explanation.
- 8.7 Structured transfers – transfers broken up into a series of smaller transfers to avoid record keeping and Client identification requirements.
- 8.8 Transactions in the name of an offshore company with structured movement of funds.
- 8.9 Transactions inconsistent with the Client's usual business or apparent means without good explanation.
- 8.10 Clients who make regular and/or large payments that cannot be clearly identified as bona fide transactions to, or receive regular and/or large payments from, countries which are commonly associated with the production, processing or marketing of drugs; or where the risk of terrorist financing activities is high.
- 8.11 Frequent exchange of travellers' cheques, foreign currency drafts by the same Client.
- 8.12 Clients receipt of numerous transfers but each transfer is below the reporting or identification requirement in the remitting country.
- 8.13 Clients sending and receiving transfers to/from tax havens, particularly if there are no apparent business reasons for such transfers or such transfers are not consistent with the Clients' business or apparent background.

Appendix IX

COMMON REPORTING STANDARD AUTOMATIC EXCHANGE OF INFORMATION

The following is extracted from the IRD website at: http://www.ird.gov.hk/eng/tax/dta_aeoi

In September 2014, Hong Kong indicated its support for implementing automatic exchange of financial account information (AEOI) on a reciprocal basis with appropriate partners with a view to commencing the first exchanges by the end of 2018, on condition that necessary domestic legislation is in place by 2017. The Government introduced an amendment bill into the Legislative Council (LegCo) in January 2016, which was passed by the LegCo on 22 June, and the Inland Revenue (Amendment) (No. 3) Ordinance 2016 was gazetted on 30 June 2016 and came into immediate effect ("the HK AEOI legislation").

The new Hong Kong legislation adopted the OECD Common Reporting Standard (CRS). Starting 1 January 2017, all HK FIs will be required to comply with the due diligence and reporting obligations under the HK AEOI legislation, and it provides reporting financial institutions in Hong Kong with the legal basis to collect the required information from account holders in relation to periods that start on or after 1 January 2017.

Under the AEOI standard, a financial institution (FI) is required to identify financial accounts held by tax residents of reportable jurisdictions in accordance with the OECD due diligence procedures. FIs are required to collect the reportable information of these accounts and furnish such information to the Inland Revenue Department (IRD). The IRD will exchange the information with the tax authorities of the AEOI partner jurisdictions on an annual basis.

While the definition of FI in the HK AEOI legislation does not cover trust companies; the application of the amending legislation to trusts can be found in Chapter 17 of the Guidelines on the website: <http://www.ird.gov.hk/eng/tax/aeoi/guidance>

Clients opening new accounts after January 2017 will be required to make self-certification under the IR legislation amendment passed and coming into effect on 30 June 2016.

For new accounts opening after January 2017, FI will seek self-certification from account holders in respect of their personal information, including tax residence. For pre-existing accounts, FI will be required to conduct due diligence procedures to identify and verify the tax residence of the account holders. In case of doubt, self-certification from account holders will be sought.

Hong Kong will exchange information with the jurisdictions with which it has entered or will enter AEOI agreements ("AEOI partners") (which list can be found on the IRD website), the information to be exchanged should be made in the self-certification forms. Sample Self Certification Forms for "Individual, Entity and Controlling Persons" are available at the following link: http://www.ird.gov.hk/eng/tax/aeoi/self_cert.htm

FI resident or located in Hong Kong will identify the financial accounts held by individuals or entities liable to tax by reason of residence in the AEOI partner jurisdictions. The financial institution will collect and furnish to IRD information of the identified account holders (individual or entity) and the financial account information on an annual basis. IRD will then transmit the information to the tax administration of the relevant jurisdiction of which the account holder is tax resident.

From the Client's point of view, if they are unsure whether they are resident in any jurisdiction, they should consult a professional adviser. In OECD's AEOI portal, more information can be found regarding the tax laws of different jurisdictions for defining tax residence. The website address is <http://www.oecd.org/tax/automatic-exchange/crs-implementation-and-assistance/tax-residency/#d.en.347760>

Information that will be exchanged with the AEOI partner shall include:

For Personal data, the information to be exchanged includes name, address, jurisdiction of residence, taxpayer identification number ("TIN"), and the date and place of birth.

For Financial account data, it includes the account number, account balance or value (year-end), and the gross amount of interests, dividends and sale proceeds of financial assets as appropriate for the year concerned.

Hong Kong intends to partner only with jurisdictions which have signed a comprehensive avoidance of double taxation agreement (CDTA) or tax information exchange agreement (TIEA) with Hong Kong in the first place.

In identifying potential candidates for AEOI, the guiding principles are that these jurisdictions should have put in place the relevant legal framework for implementing AEOI which can meet the international standard and relevant safeguards in their domestic law for protecting data privacy and confidentiality of the information exchanged.
